The primary aim of menopause care is to provide women-centred care that promotes health into the years beyond menopause. This is achieved by using the NICE guidelines as well as adapting and building on

- adopting an individualised approach at all stages of diagnosis, investigation and management
- providing information in different ways, tailored to the individual
- discussing treatment options, including an individualised risk assessment of each type and excluding contraindications
- offering treatment as appropriate, monitoring and adjusting as necessary
- adapting treatment as needed, based on a woman's changing needs and sexual differences
- taking into account fertility needs
- considering and addressing psychological needs
- seeing women at high risk of/or with breast cancer
- seeing women with other risk factors such as type 2 diabetes

This is an important health issue for employment, including occupational health nursing. Women should be offered support and advice regarding their employment as well as their physical and mental wellbeing.
